

Connexion Technologies Names CEO and CFO

Nov 6, 2007

CARY, North Carolina -- Connexion Technologies will make additions to its staff by appointing John J. Mueller as Chief Executive Officer and Peter D. Ley as Chief Financial Officer. Glen Lang, founder of Connexion Technologies, will continue with the company in a board capacity and focus on business development and strategy.

"Connexion Technologies is fortunate to have attracted Mr. Mueller and Mr. Ley to advance us to the next stage in our growth," said Lang.

"Connexion Technologies welcomes them onboard to manage the company's explosive growth," Lang continued. "Jack and Peter's extensive experience in the public markets and their history of managing large public telecommunications companies make them ideal leaders for this company."

Mr. Mueller is currently Chairman of the Board of Directors for Idearc Media and a member of the Board of Directors for Centennial Communications. Mr. Mueller has more than 28 years of experience in the communications sector. Most recently, he served as President and Chief Executive Officer and a member of the Board of Directors for Valor Communications Group. Mr. Mueller joined Valor in 2002, took it public on the New York Stock Exchange in 2005 and then merged with Alltel's wire line business to form Windstream Corporation in 2006. Before working for Valor, Mr. Mueller spent 23 years serving in a variety of roles for Cincinnati Bell Inc., including President of Cincinnati Bell Telephone Company. Mr. Mueller has a BS degree in Marketing & Management from Northern Kentucky University and is a graduate of the University of Cincinnati Executive Program. In addition, he is a certified board member following completion of an advanced education program from the UCLA Anderson School of Management.

"I was so impressed with the quality of the people at Connexion Technologies," said Mueller. "Glen Lang has personally recruited a talented group of people and has created a unique business model in the communications infrastructure space."

"Personally, my desire was to find a high growth enterprise with talented people providing an outstanding customer experience," he continued. "I've found it. Connexion Technologies has a terrific future and I am honored to be a part of this management team."

Mr. Ley is an industry veteran with over 20 years of experience in the finance and communications sectors. Prior to joining Connexion Technologies, Mr. Ley was a senior Media & Telecom investment banker with Bank of America Securities, which he joined in 2000. At Bank of America, he provided many leading US communications companies with financial and advisory services.

Prior to joining Bank of America, Mr. Ley was the Chief Financial Officer of Commonwealth Telephone Enterprises Inc., an operator of incumbent and competitive telecom services in Pennsylvania. Mr. Ley received an MBA degree from Harvard University and a BA from Dartmouth College.

"I have had the opportunity to work with dozens of fine communications companies over the last decade and I believe that Connexion Technologies has quietly built the most exciting and best positioned business model that I have seen," Ley said. "I look forward to joining the company's team to assist it in growing this great business."